FLASH BACK TO INDUCTION WEEK & THE OFFICIAL LAUNCH OF NEX.US

DAY 1. It was important for all Nex.Us staff to have an induction programme; it was (and still is) essential for our arrival at our new company and office, and to ensure that every individual settle into the organisation and office quickly and comfortably as possible.

By having the induction programme as well, it allowed the management and team to harness the exciting new journey Nex.Us has in-store for everyone.

After all, Nex.Us is about each individual's personal, tailored journey to achieve the unthinkable - and the next of us after TelBru. In the words of our CEO,

"At the beginning of every chapter, there's a beginning of a new one."

"Always believe in yourself."

"We will have the choice to go, where we want to go next."

"I ask you to embrace the uncertainty and to open your minds to accept this new beginning."

The whole induction week in particular was about helping everyone in Nex.Us to find their feet and get familiar with the new Nex.Us environment; this includes a re-introduction to your colleagues, coaches and managers. The whole week's programme was arranged to encourage staff engagement and promote team building through various social charitable activities. Furthermore, the talks were not only curated to provide insight to what is possible within Nex.Us but to also share information on how to improve one's financial and physical wellbeing.
